

MANNA
CHRISTIAN FELLOWSHIP

President

The role of the office of President is primarily being a liaison between the University and Manna. This figurehead shall represent Manna in the various campus functions throughout the year, particularly those involving the other Christian Fellowships and students organizations. Relative to his leadership of Manna, the President first and foremost places the needs of the community on his heart. As he President publicly represents Manna in outside meetings, he/she must also inform the world of Manna's convictions and vision. This very important position involves attending many meetings and listening to the concerns of students and the University. As with all of the leadership positions of Manna, this role is one of serving through love, which finds its source in the true vine of Jesus Christ.

In addition to the general ST responsibilities, the President has the following specific responsibilities:

1. Represent the vision and mission of Manna to the University and town.
2. Meet twice month with Manna Senior Staff for discipleship and leadership development.
3. Moderate weekly Staff/Exec meetings.
i.e., the president will have the responsibility of setting the agenda and moderating the weekly staff/exec meetings.
4. Emcee Manna's weekly Large Group announcements at the end of Large Group.
5. Attend relevant campus meetings.

He who desires to lead desires a noble thing. Relying on the Holy Spirit to accomplish realistic and gospel-centered objectives to the glory of God this year, what are three goals that you hope to accomplish for Christ and His Kingdom at Princeton as Manna's President? Take some time to prayerfully write at least three goals down. Return to this page often to remind yourself of the objectives you've set, trusting that God will provide the strength through His Spirit to accomplish them for His glory.
